Rectal Marker Kit with Anus Marker

Part # 222-1; 222-2 (see below)

The Rectal Marker is a device generally used with localization fields on intracavitary (intrauterine-vaginal) applications or bladder external beam localizations.

With the old method of using a soldering or other type wire, one could only obtain the position of the rectum. But, with the Rectal Marker, it is now possible to obtain both position of rectum and magnification, which allows you to determine accurately the rectal distance from the radiation source.
